We'll look at this traditional beauty as it appears in the Tea Ceremony, Kaiseki food presentation, Japanese sweets, kimono design, calligraphy, and Ikebana (Japanese flower arrangement). The course will also include two workshops: one in calligraphy and one in Ikebana.
4	46403000	JSC Comparative Cultural Studies B	2	Timothy KERN	Aims similar to Comparative Cultural Studies A, with particular focus will be on contemporary and popular culture. Ways to understand social and cultural phenomena in Japan will be discussed, along with some of the problems arising from changing values and global-local perspectives. Students will be asked to discuss and give presentations on the topics introduced or those they are interested in.
5	46410000	JSC Manga: A Cultural History	2	Omar Yusef BAKER	In this course we will review the history of manga and discuss the ways it has both influenced and been influenced by cultural phenomena within Japan and around the world. We will also examine manga's relationship with older forms of art such as picture scroll painting and woodblock printing, and with contemporary forms of art such as animation and live-action film. Together we will consider manga's place in Japanese society, and discuss possible explanations for the medium's enduring popularity in Japan and abroad.
6	46404000	JSC Film and Historical Memory in Contemporary Japan and China	2	Timothy TSU	This course introduces students to problems of representing World War II in Japan and China through the medium of film. It explores differences and similarities between Japanese and Chinese cinematic interpretations of the war by comparing Japanese and Chinese productions from different periods.

Business and Economy

8	46469000	Japanese Business B	2	Matthias HENNINGS	This course will introduce students to Japanese management by using real world case studies. It will also help students to develop managerial skills that will be beneficial for their future careers. The topics in this class cover various management techniques and negotiation styles that are inevitable to be successful in Japan such as management strategies to enter the Japanese market, crisis management and negotiations with Japanese business partners.
9	46462000	JSC Innovation and Intrapreneurship	2	Osamu SUZUKI	This course provides students a unique opportunity to gain knowledge about the Japanese company's approach to generate new knowledge and businesses, irrespective of their notorious rigidity in terms of their organizational structure, procedures, and routines.

Society

11	46511000	Ethics in Japan and the World	2	Matthias HENNINGS	In this course students will gain a basic understanding of different moral principles and discuss real cases that raised controversial ethical questions in Japan and the world. The topics include issues such as same-sex marriage, assisted suicide, the role of markets, immigration and the personal ethical questions we confront in our everyday lives.
12	46502000	JSC The Geography of Japan B	2	Richard IRVING	The Japanese landscape is currently undergoing rapid and dramatic change. Such change seems somehow to have upset the balance in the traditional order of Japanese society, and it is the aim of this course to identify and understand possible causes of this imbalance. The focus will be on contemporary demographic issues, including imbalance in the structure of Japan's population (the aging problem), and imbalance in the distribution of population (rural decline and urban growth).
13	46507000	JSC Japanese History B	2	Christian HERMANSEN	The focus is on the history since the Meiji Restoration in 1868 and up till 1995. We shall mostly explore the political and social histories, and grasp what roles Japan has sought for itself in the 130 years under survey. We will also discuss how the roles have been presented in the past and the present.

	Course Code	Course name	Credits	Instructor	Content
14	46508000	JSC Japanese Religion	2	Christian HERMANSEN	The title ought to be “Religions in Japan and Religiosity Among the Japanese.” Assuming that religions express themselves in doctrines, teachings, and practices and always in some form of dialogue with society at large, these are the aspects we shall be looking at. At the end, satori, sukui, harae, and gensei riyaku may have entered your active vocabulary.
15	46503000	JSC Environment Issues in Modern Japan	2	Timothy TSU	This course introduces students to the causes and effects of environmental change in modern Japan using case studies of industrial pollution and environmental conservation in prewar and postwar times. It will also explore modern Japanese environmentalism in its discursive and behavioral aspects with an emphasis on manifestations of ecological consciousness in international and domestic politics as well as everyday life.
16	46505000	JSC Japanese Psychology B	2	Yuji OGIWARA	This course will provide students with a perspective to view Japanese culture from cross-cultural psychological point of view. Students can understand their host culture scientifically, and will be able to enjoy some of the essential aspects of Japan through class activities. To learn the basic findings of cultural psychology, and understand the recent evidence of the field.

Politics and International Relations

17	46565000	JSC The Chinese in Modern Japan	2	Timothy TSU	This course examines the history of Chinese immigration to Japan from the Meiji period to the present day. It will analyze the complex experience of Chinese immigrants from the perspectives of politics, economics, social interaction, and the retention/loss of cultural identity. While sensitive to historical context, it will also attempt to identify trends and patterns in the Chinese immigrants’ interaction with the host society. Moreover, it will consider broader issues like globalization and multiculturalism in Japan today and the near future.
18	46561000	JSC Contemporary Korean Studies B	2	Eunja LEE	This course will introduce basic cultural aspects of modern Korean society including popular culture through books, films, journals, and other audiovisual materials. We will also critically examine the role of culture and its relation to political ideologies from the point of gender in both traditional and contemporary society.
19	46568000	JSC Government and Politics in Japan B	2	Yuka FUJIOKA	This course is designed to provide students with knowledge and to deepen their understanding on the Japanese politics and diplomacy in the post WWII era until today, and ultimately help them develop their own views on some of major national and foreign policy issues Japan faces today. In contrast with Government and Politics in Japan A offered in fall, this course will examine Japan’s politics with more focus on war memory and media.
20	46509000	JSC The Japanese Legal System	2	Takashi MARUTA	This course begins with an introduction to Japanese legal cultures and moves on to a consideration of the relation between legal and social ideologies and the material structures of Japanese judicial authority. Themes basic to any of the legal literature of Japan—issues such as the nature and role of groups, the place of individuals in society, concepts of justice, gender roles, patterns of dispute resolution, and the cultural foundation of legal systems are considered in the context of current institutional settings.
21	46564000	JSC Japan's Foreign Relations	2	Toshitaka TAKEUCHI	This is an introductory course on Japan’s foreign policy. Our main focus is on defense policy, in particular her security relations with the US. We will have detailed discussions on her constitution, especially Article 9, because it has had such a big influence on Japan’s conduct in the world.
22	46661000	JSC Special Topics in Chinese Studies	2	Luo KEQUAN	To be determined

Linguistics

25	46607000	JSC Japanese Dialects	2	Kevin HEFFERNAN	Why does the elderly farmer in anime movies end his sentences in “ja”? Why do high school students in Hiroshima mimic Osaka T.V. personalities? Why does Osaka Japanese sound so different from what you learn in Japanese language classes? This course looks at these and other issues concerning spoken Japanese. The course has two parallel themes. The first theme is an academic introduction to dialects. Topics covered include the history of dialect research, standardization, and attitudes towards regional dialects. The second theme is a practical introduction to Osaka Japanese. Basic grammar and vocabulary are taught.
26	46606000	JSC Language and Culture in Japan B	2	Nanako MACHIDA	To gain a deeper understanding of topics in Language and Culture A. Emphasis on having students analyze Japanese language data and investigate how the concept of “self”, uchi/soto (empathy), etc., are encoded in language. Youth language and Osaka-dialect are also discussed.
27	46600000	JSC Japanese Phonetics and Phonology	2	Hiroshi OTAKA	This course is designed to overview the major topics in the study of Japanese phonetics and phonology. Acquiring the manipulating skills of a sound analyzer by using a computer is also one of the objects to learn for this course. The areas covered in this course are mainly acoustic phonetics, articulatory phonetics, auditory phonetics, and phonology in which various sound-related phenomena are dealt with from various points of view based on generalized rules.
28	46602000	JSC The Study of Comparative Culture	2	Donna FUJIMOTO	In order to understand other cultures, it is essential first to understand one’s own culture. This course begins from that standpoint and will investigate various models of culture which have been used by both researchers and practitioners. The goal is to gain a deeper knowledge of the essential nature of cultural differences.

Japan Studies Courses (JSC): Elective

Course Code	Course name	Credits	Instructor	Content
1 46409000	Offered in English JSC Japanese Studies Seminar A	2	Christian HERMANSEN	The theme is "Community and religions in Japan". Fieldwork visits to religious places and lectures in class will provide a basis for discussing how religions in Japan seek to influence the communities today, and what roles the Japanese society seeks from religions.
2 46470000	Offered in English JSC Japanese Studies Seminar B	2	Matthias HENNINGS	In this class students will work together on a small research project including own fieldwork. After an introduction to survey creation, students plan and design an own survey in small groups according to a topic of their interest related to Modern Japan and conduct the survey by themselves. The survey results then will be analyzed in class and students create a draft of their presentation.
3 46604000	Offered in Japanese JSC Japanese Studies Seminar C	2	Masaru HONDA	This course takes a look at contemporary Japanese language through the study of local dialects. By studying the differences and similarities between common and dialectal Japanese, and looking at the role dialects have on everyday Japanese language, one can gain a better understanding of the current state of the Japanese language. The course will also look at the structure of Japanese, and its similarities and differences with other languages.
4 46413000	Offered in English JSC Field Study Japanese Religion	2	Timothy TSU	This course introduces students to the history, beliefs and practice of Japanese religion through lectures and fieldwork. It is an intensive course conducted over 2 weeks that include lectures on alternate weekdays and field trips to temples and shrines in the Kansai area on weekdays and one weekend.
5 46463000	Offered in Japanese JSC Internship	3	Takashi MAEDA	This course allows a student with a high level of Japanese language ability to earn credits by working at a local public or private organization and writing a report based on that experience.
